

National Energy Board ,

Further to our correspondence to you regarding the upcoming community engagement activities scheduled for November 2012, the schedule sent on October 26th, here is some further explanation to the meetings. We are committed to advancing effective community engagement and to this end, feel that it is important to include the local governance institutions and organizations in the discourse.

While open community information sessions are an effective tool to present the intent and purpose of the project, it is not necessarily the most effective means to establish long term communications that promote transparency and understanding, and identify opportunities for communities.

We will be providing answers to questions received during past community information sessions as planned. Written responses will be provided to the community at the Hamlet office. In future, communication to the broader community will be undertaken in accordance to methods deemed appropriate and agreed upon by the Hamlet and HTO during the next round of community engagement activities.

In some communities we will continue to hold open information sessions since travel schedules were disrupted due to weather and airport condition and a low number of attendees. Shown in Schedule One below

Schedule One

Community	Location	Date	Time
Iqaluit	Abe Okpik Community Centre, Apex	Monday November 26, 2012	7pm
Qikiqtarjuaq	Community Hall	Tuesday November 27, 2012	7pm
