

THE EVOLUTION OF PIPELINE INCIDENTS DATA RECORDING

The National Energy Board has dramatically improved pipeline incident data collection since its founding in 1959. Incident data was first collected as handwritten reports but is now gathered in NEB's sophisticated online database. This database enables detailed analysis, driving better management systems and creating a culture of safety and improved performance.

